

1st R2N symposium in Hannover/Germany on Nov. 6-7, 2018

Alternative methods to replace or reduce animal models in biomedical research

The research consortium “R2N – Reduce and Replace based in Lower Saxony” will hold its first symposium in the Hannover Medical School on November 6 and 7, 2018.

Speakers from institutions, authorities and companies have been invited to give lectures on regulatory perspectives, as well as challenges and progress in basic and translational biomedical research.

SAVE THE DATE! The program is currently being finalized and will be posted soon on www.r2n.eu .

André Bleich, PhD Institute for Laboratory Animal Science, Hannover Medical School, Carl-Neuberg-Str. 1, 30625 Hannover, Germany. Phone: +49 511 5326567. bleich.andre@mh-hannover.de